

Rainbow Drops, Jaw Breakers, Everlasting Gobstoppers, Swudge, Chocolate Frogs, Whizzing Wizzbees and Flying Saucers.

Scrumdiddlyumptious!

What's your favourite sweet? Why?

P.S. Even better, eat one for research (sorry grown-ups!) and write about how it tastes!

Christopher Reid's marvellously mad sweetshop poem is full of strange delights.

An Old Man Remembers His Childhood Sweetshop > sugarbombs bubblesludge tooth-twisters sherbert shocks

glueballs five-day fizzers treacle demons whopper rocks

green smiles wolf mints oozy-woozies chompsticks

gobbledrops jelly giants slow slurps liquorice bricks

Christopher Reid from All Sorts (Ondt & Gracehopper, 1999) Here's a shelf in your very own dream sweetshop. Use your wildest imagination to fill the jars with sweet treats! Write the names of the sweets on the labels and draw them inside.

Brilliant work! Well done. You could get your grown up to take a picture and tag us on Instagram and Facebook - we'd love to see it! Tad us d'habensylawiters	Now choose your most extraordinary sweet. Write a story or a comic strip about the day that sweet first arrives in the shop. Who is the first person to try it? What happens? Does it have any unexpected or magical side-effects?	1			B
You could get your grown up to take a picture and tag us on Instagram and Facebook - we'd love to see it!
You could get your grown up to take a picture and tag us on Instagram and Facebook - we'd love to see it!
You could get your grown up to take a picture and tag us on Instagram and Facebook - we'd love to see it!
You could get your grown up to take a picture and tag us on Instagram and Facebook - we'd love to see it!
You could get your grown up to take a picture and tag us on Instagram and Facebook - we'd love to see it!
You could get your grown up to take a picture and tag us on Instagram and Facebook - we'd love to see it!
You could get your grown up to take a picture and tag us on Instagram and Facebook - we'd love to see it!
You could get your grown up to take a picture and tag us on Instagram and Facebook - we'd love to see it!
You could get your grown up to take a picture and tag us on Instagram and Facebook - we'd love to see it!
You could get your grown up to take a picture and tag us on Instagram and Facebook - we'd love to see it!			- Brilliant v	work! Well done
			You could to take a on Instag we'd love	d get your grow picture and tag gram and Faceb to see it!	n up g us ook -